DOCTOR SAYS SILK STOCKINGS CAUSE THICK ANKLES IN GIRLS

Scanty Covering, It Is Claimed, Is Responsible For Erythema—Medical Attention Attracted Only After Short Dresses Became Generally Popular—Affects Females Between 15 and 20.

London, May 22.—Are the thin silk stockings now generally worn by girls and women conducive to thick ankles? The question is gravely asked in The British Medical Journal.

Dr. Parkes Weber suggests an answer in the affirmative. His phraseology, as before the organ in which he writes, is strictly professional. He begins by saying:

"A kind of chronic 'indurative' erythema of the legs in girls and young women seems now to become by no means very uncommon."

Erythema is described as a uniform redness, with puffiness of the skin. "The thickening may be marked," continues Dr. Weber, "extending from a little below the external malleolus up to the interior and exterior aspects of the legs are chiefly involved. The limbs feel cold and the patients may complain of pain and tenderness. The paracircumference, or sensation of heaviness, in them is a condition that affects females whose ages are mostly between 14 and 20 years."

Dr. Weber cites another doctor as having suggested that the scanty covering of the legs is now necessary by thin silk stockings only, from the upper edge of the boots or shoes to the lower border of the dress, is responsible for erythema. Some others support this view, but the condition did not attract medical attention before short dresses and thin silk stockings became generally popular.

Commenting on this, the writer says that one may suppose that in girls and young women with a constitutional tendency to erythema the local action of the cold on the poorly clothed parts of the legs may give rise to a more or less permanent stony of the superficial blood capillaries, leading in such cases to a local or cyanotic thickening of the affected skin, and the subcutaneous tissue—in other words, thick ankles.

ORIGINAL PARIS MODE As a model interpreting the very latest Paris fashion, this frock is ideal, for it expresses the last word in material and trimming, as well as style. Copper-color crepe satin is used for its development, and the scalloped lower edge is outlined with bead fringe in self-color. A cape (not illustrated) goes with the frock. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch material and 4 1/2 yards fringe. Pictorial Review Dress No. 2590. Sizes 16 to 20 years and 34 to 46 inches bust. Price 45 cents.

ALUMINUM GOOD KITCHEN ALLY

Aluminum kitchen ware sometimes gives anxiety to unaccustomed users because of its liability to discolor. While it certainly does tend to a discoloration that affects its appearance it is not necessarily harmful to the eaters of food cooked therein, nor does it affect the food's flavor. It is a ware that is especially easily kept clean, because the food does not stick to the surface very readily. The hard well polished metal is not porous and particles which adhere to the surface are easily removed. Usually there are no sharp corners to catch and hold dirt, and if it is thoroughly cleaned each time with hot water and any good grade of laundry soap, it should easily be kept well polished. Superficial cleaning permits accumulations of grease and general dirt, and finally the metal becomes stained and crusty, which is rather difficult to remove and causes some people to think that aluminum is hard to keep clean.

When Polishing. If it becomes necessary to restore the bright finish of aluminum utensils, any good polish which will not scratch may be used. Thorough use of such a polish occasionally should keep aluminum utensils in good condition for many years. Wipe a slight film of bicarbonate of soda collected on the surface of an aluminum utensil, it can easily be removed by cooking some rice or potatoes in it and, then polishing it up as already indicated. Should food be burned in an aluminum vessel, it should first be soaked in hot water to remove all the food which will wash out. A wooden or dull metal scraper, combined with vigorous use of steel wool and a good polish, should remove the rest and restore the polish. Many special aluminum cleaners include small parts of steel wool for this very purpose. If possible, sharp metal instruments should not be used for scraping such utensils.

Avoid Strong Acids. There is one danger in the use of aluminum utensils against which all owners should be on their guard. Strong acids, such as hydrochloric, sulphuric or nitric, should never be used in an aluminum vessel in either a weak or a concentrated form, as they are pretty sure to attack the metal. Neither should soda, borax, ammonia, or anything of an alkaline nature be used in glass aluminum, as it will eat away at the metal.

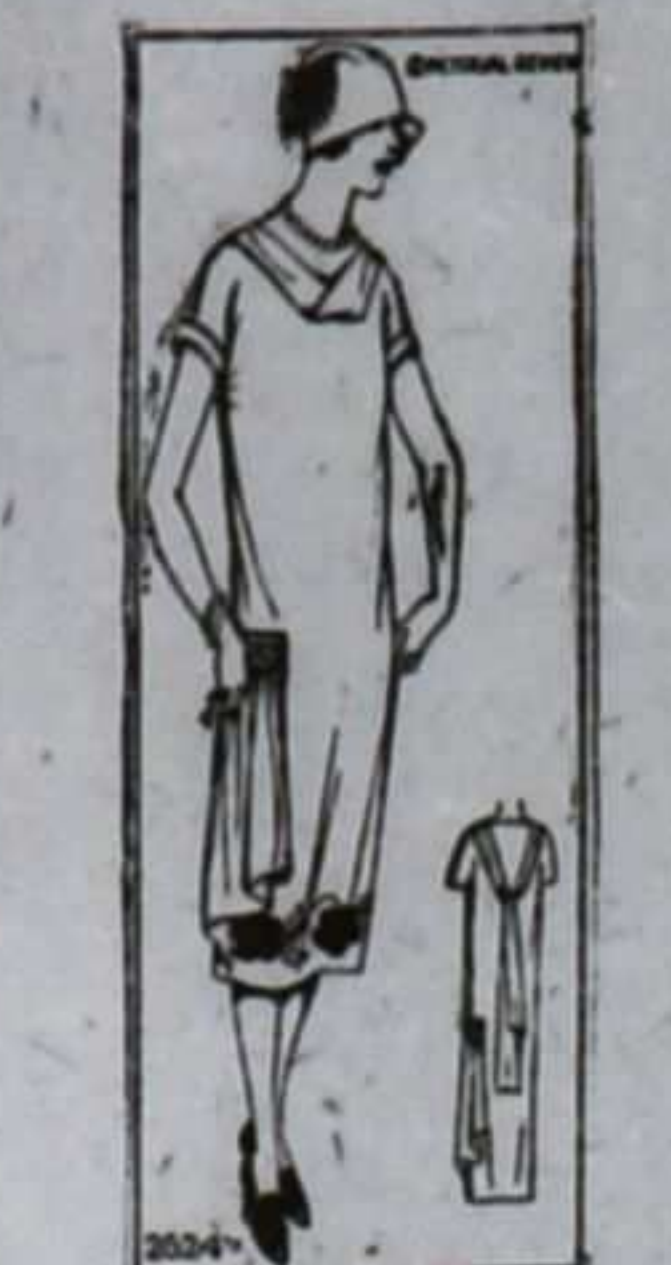

Use Properly. Where hard ware is boiled in aluminum teakettles, naturally a certain amount of hard lime deposit will result, and these must occasionally be removed. Since neither strong acid nor alkali solution can safely be used to soften and remove these, some other method must be used. Usually the best way to remove these deposits is to place the empty kettle over a hot stove or flame for a few minutes. As soon as the metal becomes thoroughly heated, the most of the time will crack off, and the balance can usually be removed by rubbing the hot utensil with a wooden scrubber. In some cases the wooden scrubber can be removed and the metal be thoroughly baked in an oven. In holding an empty aluminum vessel over a flame care must be taken not to keep it there too long, as otherwise a hole might be melted through it.

PARIS LOVES DRAPED FROCKS The crepe satins, of which Paris is so fond, are ideal for the draped model, a particularly lovely design being pictured here. The neck-line, straight in back and round in front, is emphasized by a draped collar that ties at the back. Embroidery, enlivening the lower edge of the skirt. At the sides are extensions which are shirred at the upper edges and allowed to hang free in panel effect. The kimono sleeves may be worn long or short. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material. Pictorial Review D. No. 2624. Sizes 16 to 20 years, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price 45 cents.

"PLAT FOUR" GIRL. The designing expert of one of the largest firms in Paris has now put the finishing touches to a costume in which the woman tennis player may not only be more comfortable, but look more graceful than her before. The principal feature of this costume is no other than the familiar plus four! They are made very full so that when the wearer is standing still, it looks as if she were wearing an ordinary full skirt, reaching well below the knees. When the game is in full swing, however, all resemblance to the skirt disappears, and the plus four effect comes into prominence. This tennis girl has long found the skirt clinging and inconvenient, and a terrific vogue is foretold for this new style.

STRIPS FOR BIAS BINDING. When cutting strips for bias binding place the material smoothly on the table, or any hard, smooth surface. Place a yard stick across the material where you wish to cut. Holding the stick firmly in place, with a lead pencil draw a mark across the material on each side of the stick. Move the stick and place so one edge is on the mark already made, draw a mark at the other edge of the stick. After marking off as many strips as are wanted, cut in the marks and you will have a nice, even binding. If a lead mark does not show plainly on the material used, a red or yellow pencil from the children's crayon box may be used instead.

A VERY WIDE SCARF. The very wide scarf of plaid silk with fringed ends is liked with the mannish topcoats that are so guiltless of any feminine touch.

MAN KILLED

Joseph Ether of Hamilton, while driving with Lorne J. Stewart of North Grimsby, met with an auto accident on the Smithville stone road about a mile west of that town on Tuesday evening which resulted in his death in Hamilton Hospital about twenty minutes after being admitted.

There is a bad curve in the road at this place and just as they reached there the lights on the car went out. Before Stewart, who was driving, could get them on, the auto went over the bank of the Twenty Creek. There were three in the front seat. Dr. J. H. Leeds of Smithville was called and found Ether suffering from internal injuries. He at once rushed him to Hamilton Hospital, where he died. His father lives in Hamilton.

Mrs. A. W. Moore left today for New Philadelphia, Ohio to be present at the Commencement Exercises of the class of 1925 of the New Philadelphia High School. Miss Thelma Mae McCoy, eldest daughter of Clinton and Mrs. McCoy is a member of the class.

Accommodation at Winona's public school these days is hardly sufficient to meet the demand, no less than 157 children attending the public school. Miss Brown, teacher of the primary grade, has 54 pupils; Miss Williams, 56, and Miss Stillwell, principal, 47. Under the new regulations the number of pupils should be 120, it is said.

A great many of the Agricultural Societies are adopting a uniform size 1 1/4 for bread in all classes, and uniform size sealers for all canned or bottled goods. The Clinton & Louth society will request in their Prize List this year that all bread shown be baked in this size, 1 1/4, and all canned or bottled goods in Pint or Quart sealers as may be specified in the class.

A number of Stoney Creek and nearby growers have been interested in late in the organization of a co-operative fruit camp. On Friday evening, June 5th, commencing at eight o'clock sharp, Grimsby Fire Department will present for the approval of the theatre going public of Grimsby, in Moore's Theatre, the Thelma School Girls Drill Corps in the snappy, peppy musical revue "Baby Mine". A report from Vinemont is to the effect that the condition of vineyards in that area is far from satisfactory. J. J. Bertin states that only about one-third of the buds in his Concord vineyard are maturing, and he has little hope that the remainder will develop. On other farms in the neighborhood similar conditions exist, it is said. A large number of bugs are also being found on the vines and the growers are busy picking them off before any serious harm can be done.

Following recent infractions of the law the highway department draws attention to the regulations governing the maximum loads which may be carried by different types of vehicles and announces that prosecutions will be the result of future carelessness in this respect. A few days ago a heavy iron boiler was hauled on a narrow-gauge wagon from the city and at places east of Winona the surface of the road was badly damaged. In cases of this kind where repairs must be made the entire cost of the work must be met by the offender.

A Beamsville fruit grower just returned from New York, states that Georgia pears just began to arrive in that market last Friday and were selling from five dollars to six-fifty a carrier of six four-quart baskets. California cherries were bringing at retail from 35 to 50 cents a pound, and plums three to four dollars a carrier. Texas corn was retailing at four cents per bushel, and good cucumbers from 5 to 10 cents. The best pineapples were around 15 cents and appeared to be plentiful. He states that supplies of fruit and vegetables were heavy.

The audience that turned out to witness Sophronia's Wedding, at Moore's theatre last Friday night, was very disappointing to the ladies of Robinson street circle of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church. The play was staged by the Ladies Aid of the Smithville Methodist church, who deserve a great deal of credit for such a clever production, which kept the audience entertained every minute. The play was in three acts: 1. The village of Teutonia; 2. a bar of Sophronia's home; and 3. same as act one. Mrs. W. Henderson, as Sophronia, acted her part well, as did Mrs. Brown, as the Phone Girl. Mrs. Lynch, as Mrs. Snodgrass, kept the audience in the best of humor with her witty sayings; in fact, everything in connection with the play was a huge success.

OPTOMETRY

It's value to the public.

By VERNON TUCK, R.O.
Grimsby, Ontario

The studies which the Optometrist must master comprise the anatomy, physiology and pathology of the eye, which include its structure, the functions of its organs, and its importance as an indicator of the general health of the patient.

The detection of the many deviations from normal of the eye which prevent its proper functioning.

The form and character of the various lenses, which when placed before the abnormal eye cause it to function as nearly as possible normally.

The preparation of these lenses and their accurate adjustment to the features of the patient.

So it will be seen that the profession of Optometry is one that is distinctly valuable to the public, both from a health and an economic standpoint.

Frost, snow and hail were the gifts which the weatherman showered upon Grimsby and vicinity on May 27th, following a fortnight of exceptionally fine weather. While the Gardes District of Canada was having its first 24th of May snowfall, in over 50 years, heat waves were reported in Chicago and other western cities, causing the local people to wonder at the distribution of the weather in such manner.

George Parkinson of Yaktima, Washington was a visitor in Grimsby and Beamsville over the holiday after an absence of forty years. Mr. Parkinson was formerly with the late John W. Eoval and ago with Mr. Conner of the Corner House at Beamsville. He naturally finds many changes in the two towns and had but few of the men he had known. His memory of old times and ages was keen and he kept J. O. Kagle busy for a day telling around these old spots.

Members of the Grimsby Fire Department are not all decked out in brand new blue uniforms and they make a dandy show. The suits are made of heavy blue serge with a coat a double breasted pattern down the front, and small buttons on the sleeves. While rummaging through some old keepsakes last week, S. E. Mabey came across an old souvenir that had been given to him by Archie Burland, he having brought it from England in 1903 from the coronation of the late King Edward the Seventh. The souvenir is a picture of Her Late Majesty, Queen Victoria, taken when a child about three years old. On the reverse side is a picture of a lock of the late Queen's hair.

While returning home from a weekend trip to the States, Oscar and Mrs. Zryd and daughter of Hespler met with a bad accident on Tuesday, afternoon about a half mile east of Stoney Creek on the Highway. A roadhog truck driver forced Mr. Zryd, who was driving, to take to the ditch to avoid being hit by the truck. Chief of Police Wentworth is all "set up" over the way township people allow their dogs to run at large in the town and thereby brew up a lot of trouble for the chief. Town councilors and residents alike make no distinction between dogs. They just give the dog a lump of the law and let him run down a street. The chief claims that the most of the dogs that are running loose on the town streets are from the township and he purposes rounding up every blooming dog that pokes its nose inside the town limits and then dispatch them to dog houses via the gun route. Township owners better pay heed or lose their canines.

W. P. Heaton, Fire Marshall for the Province of Ontario, was a guest at the Village Inn on Friday night last on his way to Smithville for further investigation into the epidemic of fires that the southern metropolis has suffered from lately. He was one of the first men on the street on Saturday morning when the fire alarm rang and after the fire in the Hawke store had been got under control he warmly congratulated Fire Chief Talbot on the efficient and masterly manner in which he and his men had handled the fire. He plainly told Chief Talbot that no fire department in the country under the same circumstances could have done any better work than the Grimsby department had done.

WINONA MAN INSTANTLY KILLED BY FAST TRAIN

Patrick Hand Drives On Track In Front of Express—Inquest To Be Held At Stoney Creek Thursday—Funeral Monday.

Patrick Hand, 19 years of age, third son of Abe and Mrs. Hand, well-known residents of Winona, was instantly killed about 1 o'clock Friday afternoon when a motor truck which he was driving was struck by a fast C.N.R. passenger train, at Winona station road crossing. According to eyewitnesses Mr. Hand, proceeding south with a loaded truck, had apparently failed to notice the train's approach until he had started to cross the rails. At this time the express, westbound, was less than three hundred feet from the crossing. It is said that Mr. Hand attempted to reverse the truck and back away, but before he could clear the rails the train had crashed into the front of the vehicle. The force of impact was so great that the young man was thrown about 125 feet and fell in a ditch near the north siding. When picked up he was out and broken almost beyond recognition and Dr. W. W. Lee, who found a crushed skull, broken leg and deep lacerations about the victim's head, concluded that death had been instantaneous. The truck, reduced to a mass of splintered wood and tangled metal, was hurled more than 50 feet beyond the crossing. The train, known as No. 5, was running about 20 minutes late and was said to be traveling at its regular speed.

Immediately after his examination Dr. Lee summoned Dr. B. E. Thompson, coroner, who ordered an inquest and Chief of Police Clark empaneled a jury which, after viewing the remains, adjourned to meet again on Thursday evening, May 28, at Stoney Creek. Hugh Bertram was foreman of the jury.

Patrick Hand was one of the popular young men of the district and left to mourn his untimely death are his parents, five brothers and three sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Hand and family will receive the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral took place on Monday morning from the family residence, and was largely attended. Those present were representative of the entire district. Requiem mass was held at St. Joseph's church, Grimsby, where Rev. Father Miller was assisted by Rev. Father McCowell, of Hamilton. The pallbearers were Walker Chambers, John Maddox, Alfred Branton, Walter Carpenter, Fred Woodcock and Thomas Moore.

Sorrow came doublefold to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hand on Monday, when, immediately after the funeral of their son, Patrick, Mrs. Hand was advised of the death of her mother, Mrs. Duncan MacGillivray, at Hamilton Beach. Mrs. MacGillivray was in her 84th year, and had been in failing health for some little time. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

LOCAL HOTELS GET BIG BOOST

Village Inn and Winona Beach Inn Receive Blossom Week Write-Ups In London Advertiser—Four Pages of Ads.

In its issue of Saturday, May 16th, The London Advertiser carried no less than four pages of advertisements and reading matter pertaining to Blossom Week, in the Niagara peninsula. The advertisers were all manufacturers and hotel men of this district and they extended hearty invitations to the readers of the Advertiser to visit their places of business during the blossom tour.

Two of the readers as they appeared in The Advertiser were as follows: LEGENDS OF OLD RECALLED BY VIEW FROM WINONA INN

"Sparkle of a thousand ripples coming through the trees; whisper of a million leaves' stride the vernal breeze," are the thoughts that first come to mind when one looks out across Lake Ontario from the doorway of the Winona Beach Inn, set in a fairyland of blooms and shrubbery, overhung with gentle swaying willow trees, on the shore one mile east of Winona.

Blossom Week visitors to the Garden of Ontario will not have made the most of their tour until they have stood on the gravelled drive of this hotel, located in a land rich in history and legend, and have seen the redmen and voyageurs of long ago glide past in their dark canoes armed for war, perhaps, or bound for an unknown country, where awaited them all the thrill of new adventure. Not everything that is past is dead. Unhidden, there wells up in one's heart a vague longing to have lived in that day, and know the life that those aborigines and these pioneers knew—to have seen through a morning campfire's smoke the new sun rising to set the lake gleam with fresh beauty, and at night, its mission done, settle in the far-flung forest to the west.

The Winona Beach Inn is on the shore of the lake, but a short distance from the highway east of Winona village. A large sign will tell the tourists when to turn down its lane. The proprietor, J. C. Campbell, is known as the soul of hospitality to all who have ever been his guests.

TWO TAME BEARS WELCOME GUESTS

"Hey, Donnie, guess what we saw out on the highway?" was the question flung across one of Hamilton's streets yesterday afternoon by a youngster as he leaped from the family sedan after a trip down through the blossom belt.

"I dunno," was Donnie's laconic reply, as he continued poking at the wheel of his express cart, thinking doubtlessly that his sharer of mischief and doughnuts was about to unfold an every-day story of seeing a machine from far off Texas or California on a roadside mishap.

"Well," the first lad shrilled, "guess."

"To heck with guessin' what did you see?"

"A couple of bears!" Donnie "snapped out" of his abstraction in no time. "Bears!" he gasped incredulously. "Bears?" Here was something standing higher than vehicular smashups or Texas tourists in the scale of youthful significance. "Where at?"

"Down at Grimsby. The man that runs the Village Inn there has 'em. They'll come right up to you, too. I gave 'em a banana."

The two tame bears at the Village Inn in Grimsby are but one of the many reasons why tourists like to stop at this honey hotel along the blossom route. Here they will find an expanse of five acres of natural park developed and cared for by N. Serva's, the proprietor of this up-to-date establishment. There is ample space, too for parking any number of automobiles. A visit to the Village Inn at Grimsby is well worth while.

HOLIDAY AUTOS NOT SO NUMEROUS

Traffic Over Week-End About Fifty Per Cent of Previous Week—Toronto Races Helped.

After the heavy traffic of Sunday, May 17, when nearly 20,000 autos passed through the town, the 10,000 or 12,000 that went by on Sunday and Monday last, seemed like quiet business.

On Sunday the cold weather was too great a deterrent; there was no comfort in riding, and at no time out of several countings were more than 600 cars tabbed in an hour, while from one to two in the afternoon only 300 passed.

On Monday New Yorkers and others from the eastern end of the peninsula going to Toronto races helped to swell the holiday crowd, but chilly weather again kept many at home.

Between 9 and 10 in the morning 470 was the count; between 11 and 12 there were 550, but the afternoon helped to swell the total. Between 3:45 and 4:45 there were 775, and in the next hour—up to 5:45—637 were counted; and of these at least 70 per cent were going west.

The young man paused attentively in the act of removing his coat, and glanced towards the hostess.

"It's my daughter breaking in song," she exclaimed proudly. "Yes, she sounds as if she were breaking in, as she obviously cannot find the key," came the cynical reply.

COUNTY RATE FOR THIS YEAR

That an Education Audit committee consisting of the Warden, Chairman of Education, Chairman of Finance, County Clerk and a school inspector, be appointed a permanent audit committee for the purpose of scrutinizing and certifying all High School accounts to the council, and that a bylaw to this effect be prepared and submitted to the council for approval.

That upon approval of the Education Audit committee, 50 per cent of the total amount of any High School be paid, when passed by this council at its December session.

That the remaining 50 per cent be allowed to stand until the audit committee has had opportunity of examining the auditor's report of the accounts of the High School board submitting the account of the said school, together with the register containing attendance records and place of residence of pupils attending such High School.

That the regulations regarding the keeping of the school registers be strictly enforced.

That the high school board be sent a synopsis of the High School Act relating to high school pupils, relative to the responsibility of the county in connection with the payment of tuition accounts.

The committee on printing and building reported as follows: We have had a portable garage erected at the rear of the Court house, by Mr. W. W. Park, at a cost of $150.00, exclusive of painting. We have accepted the contract of Henry W. Colton for painting and arnishing the main corridor and inter vestibule and radiators, in the court house, in accordance with specifications for the sum of $425.00 contract to be completed June 6, 1925. The committee recommended that the chairman be authorized to purchase new awning to be placed over the front door of the jail, and to purchase new toilets and flush tanks where necessary. That the committee be authorized to renew insurance on county buildings.

IN MONTH OF JUNE DIPPER WILL APPEAR HIGH IN WESTERN S

Washington, May 19.—You may think summer is here, but officially it does not begin until June 21, which will be the longest day of the year in the Northern Hemisphere. It comes on Sunday, which will doubtless make tennis and golf players rejoice.

Just a month to look for the Big Dipper high in the western sky with the end of the handle nearly due north, says a bulletin by the American Nature Association. Bores, generally spoken of as the Ox-drummer, is also known as the Ox-drummer and is supposed to be driving the seven plow oxen, as the seven stars of the Big Dipper are also known, around the north pole of the heavens.

Arcturus, the brightest star in Boötes, is the Bear-guard, as its name signifies, and it can be easily found by prolonging the line of stars in the tail of the Great Bear or the handle of the Big Dipper toward the southeast. Some see in Boötes a hunter pursuing the Great Bear with his two hounds.

Boötes is easily found because its chief stars form the outline of a boy's kite, with the bright orange-colored star Arcturus at the point where the tail joins the body of the kite. This kite has two tails, however, extending to either side from Arcturus.

Some prefer to see the five fairly bright stars in Boötes to the north of Arcturus as corners of a pentagon, a five-sided figure with its sides of equal length.

Arcturus (its peculiar orange color makes it easy to find) is also one of the three brightest stars north of the celestial equator. The other two are Vega, now far over in the northeast, and Capella in the northwest. The three stars differ greatly in color, for Vega is bluish-white; Capella, yellow; and Arcturus, orange. Vega is a shade brighter than the other two, which are exactly equal in brightness. Arcturus, the American Nature Association points out, is one nearer stars to the earth, there is some uncertainty as to exact distance. It is placed at 21 and 36 light years.

A light year is the distance travels in a year at the speed of 660 miles a second. Arcturus, quite a giant star, the stars be- suns, of course. Its diameter is 70,000,000 miles. That makes sun with its diameter of only 86 miles look pretty small, though compared to our planet earth, we danger of 8,000 miles, it seems Corona Borealis, next to Boötes the east, is the Northern Crown. It is indeed a beautiful little star, six stars, in which the second is a star, Gemma or Alpheratz, brightest star in the semi-circle, jewel of the crown.

Far over in the northeast is the brightest star of the northern hemisphere of the heavens, easily recognized by its diamond-like blue splendor and by the two small stars that form with it an equilateral triangle that has no counterpart in the heavens. Vega is in Lyra, the one of the smallest and most interesting constellations in the sky, next to the huge constellation of Hercules, which separates it from Boötes on the west.

NEW RULING FOR CANADIANS IN U. S. A.

An article in a contemporary states that a ruling has been received from headquarters of the naturalization bureau in Washington, which abolishes the practice which has hitherto served to qualify Canadian citizens previously resident in the United States, for first papers. Canadians who did not pay their head tax when entering the United States, must under the new ruling, return to Canada and recounter the United States, paying the poll tax of $5 and the entry tax of $10. It is said that a number of Canadians have entered the United States intending to stay only a few days, but have later decided to remain. When they make application for their naturalization papers these facts are brought to light and it is necessary for them to enter the United States in proper manner paying the necessary taxes.

Little burst of speed netted him tiny feet in overcoming the train's handicap, but the best he could do thereafter was to run a losing race. He quit at the end of the long platform and returned. "Miss your train, sir?" enquired the porter cheerfully. "No, my friend," he replied. "Oh no! I was just chasing it out of the yard. You oughtn't to allow it around here. Don't you see the tracks it has left?" —From "Rail Late"

Growing Children, even more than adults, need easy-running, well-made Bicycles which will not require undue exertion.

At the present very low prices of C.C.M. Juveniles, there is no need of putting up with a cheap machine which is apt to soon become hardrunning and therefore injurious.

C.C.M. Juvenile Bicycles are made from exactly the same grade of materials and by the same workmen as the regular adult models. The only difference is in the height of the frame and wheels.

SALTFLEET TO BUILD SCHOOL

Township Officials Realize Problem Must Be Faced—City Fees Are Too High—Stoney Creek Central Point.

Stoney Creek, May 21.—Discussing the problem of advanced education, which must be disposed of by the county council before July 1, when the township's agreement with Hamilton board of education will expire, Reeve George Cornman yesterday said it was quite probable that a high school would be built in Saltfleet next year. In fact, the reeve said he would not be surprised if work on the building was started this year. Asked where the school would be located, Cornman expressed the opinion that Stoney Creek would be the popular choice by reason of its centrality.

During the past two or three months members of the county council have been busy trying to reach a solution of the difficulty, rather than pay exorbitant rates to the city, and at their next meeting on June 5, something definite may be looked for. Among other things there will be presented a motion requiring a division of the county into school districts in order to take advantage of recent legislation at Toronto, and it is likely it will be adopted. In this case the local councilors will press for Saltfleet being made a district so that the move for a high school may be carried through. Under the new legislation the county would bear fifty per cent. of the cost of constructing the school as well as tuition, and the township would be responsible for the remainder.

GOLF SWINGS

By the brothers, Frank Thompson, present Canadian Amateur champion, and W. J. Thompson, Ontario Amateur champion and last year's champion of Canada. They are native-born and resident Canadians, members of a family of five famous golfing brothers.

NO. 2.

The question for practical golfers is the workability of Duncan's teachings. There is no doubt in the world that Duncan's description of the swing is true to fact. As already stated there is nothing new in the swinging of a golf club, but there certainly is a clearer conception of how it is done, and this definite knowledge has been made possible by the fast camera.

Harry Vardon was perhaps the greatest golfer that ever lived as a player. He published a book in which he stated in the clearest and most unequivocal terms that the club head moved first; that the left wrist started the swing by making a half turn. As soon as the fast camera was trained on Vardon it clearly demonstrated that he did not practice what he preached. It showed clearly that the hands dragged the club head back. In the light of the data supplied by the pictures Vardon taught what he called an arm swing, whereas he employed a body swing in play.

The point to ponder is this, that Vardon not only did not know how he swung the golf club but actually mis-conceived the swing and Vardon was not alone in this. Every other golfer, including Duncan himself, followed Vardon's lead in misconceiving the swing. When the results of the fast camera were shown to the individual pros each hesitated to show his swing to the others because of the peculiar action of the wrists. Duncan is a recent convert to this method of teaching, and for the golfer who has been brought up trying to swing his club according to the old teaching it certainly may act as a well needed antidote to the old method of teaching but for others one should be careful.

If Vardon and the rest of the pros did not know how the wrists worked in the swing, but allowing their clubs the same way it seems then that this is a perfectly natural way for the wrists to work in the swinging of the club, and it would, perhaps, be wisdom to allow them to work themselves. Timing of having the muscles working in a co-ordinated and distinct way is a very important factor in the golf swing. To emphasize any detail seems a petty sure way of spoiling such harmony.

For those who followed the old teaching, dragging the hands back first will certainly help. Two points were emphasized in the old method, namely keeping the head still and turning over the left wrist. One is sufficient to utterly ruin effective golf, so that players who followed that method need not worry because their golf was mediocre. The still head invariably meant too much weight on the left foot, and a wooden swing because of restricted body movement and wrist turn, meant a swing built up of parts disjointed at inception and distorted at impact. Now the peculiar feature of the pictures taken from a few years ago of Mitchell, Ray, and Duncan, shows the strain at the wrist joints was less apparent with Duncan than Mitchell and Ray. This meant one of two things. Duncan either had less body swing or stronger wrists. Perhaps a third alternative—that of holding the club tighter suggests itself.

Duncan on his visit to Canada had considerable to say about the straight left arm, the method used by Sarazen and others. He does not approve of it. He advocates just the opposite, of keeping the muscles relaxed and almost flabby. Duncan emphasized and advocated the importance of keeping the muscles relaxed. This is very clearly in view of the tendency of a number of leading players adopting the straight arm. He agreed that it was possible to play excellent golf in this manner, but that this was an artificial method that required continual practice, and which took more out of the player. During Duncan's previous visit little impression was placed on the points which he now emphasizes, and making allowances for exaggeration necessary to make his theories clear, it is the belief of many pros that he has over-stated his case.

Mitchell, of course, is more conservative in everything, and although no doubt agreeing with Duncan in principle, his teaching was very similar to that of the average accomplished professional. Mitchell talked about "width." This enabled the weight to get onto the right foot, and is in contrast to the beginner's tendency to take the club up too sharply.

Duncan spoke about relaxation and a relaxed grip, but he did not emphasize the important work the hands must perform. The body swing may be ever so perfect, and yet if the hands lag or become lazy the stroke will not be effective. The picture shows clearly that during the last three feet of the swing it is the hands, and especially the right hand that appears to be doing the major part of the work, and everyone knows from experience that the hands are continuously lagging behind. Vardon, although he misconceived the swing from a theoretical standpoint, had no doubt or hesitation about sailing the club into the hole and this work was done by his hands.

The danger of Duncan's visit will be the exaggeration at the wrist joints. Golfers should remember that the "drag back" apparent in the pictures is not discernable to the eye. So long as the body initiates the swing there does not seem to be any necessity for exaggerating this point, and it is perfectly natural for the body to start the swing. It does so in chopping wood, driving spikes, shooting in hockey, batting in baseball, and in every other similar endeavor.

In asking a number of persons who attended Duncan's performances their idea of the final they gave the impression that the hands must come back first and invariably exaggerated the movement. The hands do not start to move before they are compelled to move, because of the body movement. So far as initiating the movement of the club they may be said to be passive, and are merely swung by the body, but the hands are actively engaged in holding the club up to its work. If the hands are pulled back conspicuously before they receive the urge from the body twist, anything may happen but certainly timing will be irrevocably destroyed.

A negro who had stolen some chickens heard that the police were on the trail. He hurried to the nearest railway station and asked for a ticket to the end of the line.

"The passenger train left a few minutes ago," replied the booking clerk.

"Well," gasped the negro, "jes grime de ticket and p'int out de track."

TOUGH WEATHER FOR FRUIT MEN

The Niagara peninsula encountered a mixture of weather on Sunday and Monday. It was quite different from the week previous, when the cherry bloom was whitening the atmosphere with its falling petals. On Sunday morning the fruit growers opened their eyes to quite a respectable snow flurry that lasted off and on all morning.

There is a fair acreage now out in tomatoes, and growers were busy covering these thousands of plants with all kinds of baskets and receptacles at hand. It was a big job. Some had smudges burning in their patches both on Saturday and Sunday nights. The cloudy nights undoubtedly saved the situation, as no reports of freezing around this center have come in.

Great quantities of tomato plants were removed from the cold frames on Friday and Saturday last week by growers who had purchased them, intending to set them out at once, but the quick right-about in the weather soon changed their minds, and the plants, in a large majority of cases, are again under cover until there is more sunshine.

a gambling hole and a bootlegging dive. Some time ago it was learned that he was sending more money away to his wife and family in Barrie every month than he was receiving in salary from the trustees. When questioned about this he explained that he held some stocks and bonds that were returning him dividends.

Dench was always the first, or one of the first men to show up at every fire and always worked like a horse. It is also alleged that at every fire he was always drunk or partially drunk and some people believe that while in his cups he had a mania for a sensation and took the fire means of satisfying his desires.

The first fire to set the village and countryside agog occurred on the morning of April 3rd, when the U.F.O. hall, housing Schuicks tailor shop went up in flames the drug store and living apartments of Henderson the druggist were destroyed. This fire started, it was learned upon investigation, in the ball upstairs, in the rear. Late the night before Schuicks had heard some person walking around upstairs but paid no attention to the fact as he believed that it was the janitor up there doing some work. At this fire Dench worked like a Trojan to save property and by cutting power lines to save any workers from being electrocuted. It was only the timely arrival of the Grimsby and Beamsville fire departments, this night, that saved the village from a far greater loss.

Some days later fire was discovered in the large stables at the rear of the Commercial hotel but was quenched before much damage was done, but it was only a couple of nights later when they were discovered ablaze again and this time were totally destroyed as was also the adjoining barn of Dr. Zumstein.

At this fire Dench was one of the first ones on the job and was the man that saved a horse from the burning structure. It is alleged that on this eventful evening a number of the youngbloods of the countryside were at Dench's place for a chicken dinner with all the trimmings, and during the fire the rumor spread that one of the lads had been trapped in the burning barn and cremated, but this proved to be wrong as all showed up when noses were counted.

By this time the people of Smithville were up in arms and street talk and private conversation all pointed a galling finger at Dench, although no person had anything actually on him. About this time, it is alleged that Dench made the remark on a street that "There will be three more fires, the old White House hotel, Vall and Wilcox's garage and Zimmermann's store" (the Zimmermann store being occupied by Henderson the druggist). This kind of talk scared the people all more and they began to demand action.

A new gasoline pump for Vall and Wilcox had arrived in the village by this time and was erected in front of their garage. Dench did the electrical wiring work on the pump. The pump did not work satisfactorily and a man from the factory was called to see what was wrong. He fixed the leaking portion of the pump, but also found that the wiring in the pump had been very poorly done, in fact it is alleged that it was wired in such a way that almost anything from a spark down to an explosion of the tank would be liable to happen at any time. The pumpman threatened Dench with exposure to the Hydro Electric Commission.

A week ago Monday night was the wedding of Dench. On this night Dench was all dolled up in his Sunday clothes and at eleven thirty was standing at the corner of Griffin and St. Catharines streets talking to Jack Fisher. The men parted and Fisher walked out to the townline road to his home, a distance of one-third mile. He went in the house, went upstairs, undressed and got into bed. He had hardly settled down in bed until his wife said, "Jack, there is somebody calling fire." Fisher arose and put his head out of the bedroom window. He could not see the slightest sign of a blaze in any direction, but there was a man running up the road from the direction of the R. J. Baldwin farm, yelling fire. When he got to the Fisher home, Fisher got the man in his old clothes, Fisher said, "where is the fire?" Dench replied, "the fire is in the barn." All this happened within a half hour of the time the two men had been talking together down town.

When the people arrived at the scene of the fire it was discovered that the straw stack at the rear of the barn was ablaze and it was only by dint of hard fighting that the barn was saved. Calling on fire fighters at all times was Dench. All the doors to the barn were locked on the inside except the front door which was padlocked, but it was only that day that a padlock had been put on this door. Fear of a fire was the reason.

After much argument pro and con as to what action should be taken and a view of the statements of Fisher, the trustees finally on Wednesday discharged Dench, but in the meantime Mackay had arrived in the village and it did not take this boy of the blue tunic and brass buttons long to weave a web of incriminating evidence around Dench with the ultimate result that he is now in jail and the people of Smithville are breathing easier and sleeping better at nights.

When darkness came over the village on Thursday night merchants and householders found that their electric lights would not light. Investigation brought to light the fact that the main feed wires had been tampered with. This job is also laid at the door of Dench.

Provincial Fire Marshall Heaton was a visitor to Smithville on Saturday morning but nothing is known as to what his investigations may have brought to the surface more than that discovered by Mackay.

MARSH-ATCHISON

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Atchison, Main street east, Grimsby, on Wednesday, May 20, was the scene of a pretty spring wedding, when their only daughter, Isabel Joy, was united in marriage to Mr. Earl J. Marsh, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marsh, of Grimsby. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. F. S. MILLER, of St. John's Presbyterian church, Grimsby, assisted by Rev. Dr. Richard Whiting, a cousin of the bride. At 3 o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Helen Thomas of Hamilton, the bride entered the drawing-room escorted by her father. The bride was very attractive in her gown of ivory tulle and lace, the train being lined with shell-pink georgette. Her veil of silk tulle was not so arranged as to be seen, but was very smartly decorated with orange blossoms and sprays of white flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, and wore the groom's gift, a pearl bracelet.

Miss Beulah Marsh, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was charming in her coral Canton crepe gown, carrying a bouquet of pink and snapdragons. Miss Erma Colford, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a pretty frock of Even a-lavette crepe and carried a bouquet of pink and snapdragons. Miss Edna Jean Fox, niece of the groom, made a winning flower girl in a red frock of mull and carried a basket filled with sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Mr. Harold B. Maguire of Grimsby. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Robert McArthur, of Beamsville, sang "By Your Side."

The bride's mother was gowned in coral crepe and wore a coral bouquet of cream sunset roses. Mrs. Marsh, mother of the groom, was in a sequined French gown of navy blue, with coral bouquet of pink sweet peas.

After the ceremony, eight girl friends of the bride—Miss Jean McLean (Toronto), Miss Kathryn McNelly (Hamilton), Miss Treva Moore (Grimsby), Miss Mary Buckle (Oakville), Miss Isley (Woodgate, N. Y.), Miss Merion Marsh (Grimsby), sister of the groom, and the Misses Hazel and Helen McCollum (St. Catharines), cousins of the bride—assisted in serving refreshments to the guests, who numbered about 80.

Let us the afternoon the happy couple left on a two weeks' motor trip through the southernmost states, the bride traveling in a navy blue and gray ensemble, all of velvet, tall with a cloche French hat of powder blue. On their return they will reside in their new bungalow on Nelles boulevard, Grimsby.
